Case Further Continued.

The case of Maud Reynolds, who was arrested recently suspected of being an accomplice to the shooting of John Ryan in Frank McLearen's saloon on the night of October 1, came up in the Police Court this morning. The prosecution was conducted by Commonwealth's Attorney S. G. Brent and the defense by Mr. G. L. Boothe. A number of witnesses were examined, but in the absence of more material ones the Mayor concluded to continue the case until nine o'clock Monday morning.

Detective Platters and Sergeants McNeilly and Parham, of Washington, testified to hearing Maud Reynolds tell the man who claims to be her uncle while in a room in Washington that a man she called "Ed" rose on the morning of the shooting and after loading his pistol he placed the weapon to her breast and asserted that he would shoot any man who insulted her.

William Wade testified to the woman coming to his saloon in company with a man he had previously known as Ed. Reynolds and John Macab y, one of the men arrested at 305 Prince street the morning after the shooting. He had only known Reynolds a few days, the latter having invoked his aid in searching for a house. Witness was sure Harry Tuttle was not with the woman, and when asked to pick out Tuttle's picture from several placed before him had no trouble in doing so. Reynolds, he said, wore no moustache. Tuttle did.

Robert Cogan, who was in the saloon at the time of the shooting, and who testified at the first examination, did not vary his evidence materially. He did not witness the shooting.

Harry Robinson, who testified at the first examination, said the man who was with the woman in the saloon came from the yard and ordered two bottles of beer. Dai Coffin, the bartender, started with the beer, at which time Ryan went from the yard to the bar, where the stranger was. The latter said something to Ryan, who said "wait a minute." It was at this juncture that witness heard the pistol shot, when he ran out a side door, returning later.

Ernest Cook's evidence did not throw any additional light on the shooting. He was not present at the time.

Mrs. Harry Tuttle was placed on the stand. She identified the prisoner as the woman she had seen with her husband on Pennsylvania avenue in Washington.

Thomas Henderson, living at 305 Prince street, took the stand. He testified that the man he knew as Ed Reynolds had no moustache and was square-shouldered and robust.

As stated above, there were really no developments in the case. William Wade had testified that while the woman and the two men were in his saloon his wife suddenly appeared from a trip to Washington and put the party out. Mrs. Wade was not in the city, and her testimony being regarded as important the postponement of the case until Monday in order to secure Mrs. Wade's attendance was considered necessary.

Furious Storm.

The furious northwest wind and rain storm which began in this city and vicinity Thursday extended over a large area. It swept over portions of Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, New York, eastern Pennsylvania and eastern New York and along the Atlantic coast from North Carolina to the southern section of New England. The center of the storm was off the Virginia coast. The velocity of the wind reached 72 miles at Cape Henry. The gale in Chesapeake Bay Thursday night was alarming, the wind reaching a velocity of sixty miles an hour. Steamers on their way from this city and Baltimore to Norfolk and other Virginia ports had fearful experiences, and no little alarm was manifested by many of the passengers while the wind was roaring and the steamers plunging and shipping seas. The steamer Norfolk which left Alexandria shortly after seven o'clock Thursday night had a thrilling time when she passed out of the river into the bay, although the officers say the boat was in no danger. The passengers, however, thought different, and many were attracted in their night clothes and life preservers. The rough seas which the Norfolk encountered in turning Smith's Point at the mouth of the Potomac were what did all the mischief. Some of the freight got loose and shifted about with terrifying noises. Much of it was broken open. The violent rolling of the boat frightened the passengers badly. The screams of women and loud demands regarding the whereabouts of the life preservers created fear among those who would otherwise have been cool. The crashing of the freight below and the pounding of the waves against the boat's side was terrifying. Crockery and glassware, the wines and liquors in the cafe and everything else breakable were demolished. The furniture flew about the decks, and it was almost impossible to sleep. Similar experiences were encountered by every boat going down the bay. Nobody was hurt, but the boats were all pounded and tossed terribly by the storm. The Norfolk arrived up this morning about two hours late, owing to the head wind and low tides. Her officers reported rough weather in the bay last night. The steamer suffered no material damage, although glass was broken in the saloon and pilot house. The Washington of the same line left for Norfolk about on time last night.

The elements were on the rampage in this city and vicinity yesterday and last night. The wind blew great guns accompanied by rain. The velocity of the wind had not diminished much today. The temperature is uncomfortably cool.

The storm caused no material damage in this city and vicinity so far as can be learned. A few fences and telephone wires were prostrated, bricks blown from chimneys and limbs twisted from trees.

A telegraph pole blew down at the B. & O. depot and in falling injured the roof of the depot building. Early last night a portion of a chimney was blown from a house on the south side of Prince street, between Henry and Fayette.

Alice Kitts, colored, who was passing at the time, narrowly escaped serious injury. The trains on all the roads converging in this city have been late in arriving today, but so far as known the road beds or bridges have not suffered serious damage.

Personal.

Miss Vierkorn will sing at the Railroad Reading Rooms tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. J. Dreifus, of Alexandria, is the guest of his friend, Mr. Jacob L. Shaner, Jr., on Grace street. Mr. Geo. Patterson, deputy collector of internal revenue in Alexandria, is the guest of his brother, Mr. S. W. Patterson. — [Lynchburg Advance.]

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Speiden, of Louisville, Ky., their daughter, Miss Marian Speiden, and Mrs. Patterson Bayne (Miss Jane Latham), who have many old friends in Alexandria, will be in the city for a few hours tomorrow, the guests of Mrs. M. C. Broadus on Queen street.

The tea given at the golf house yesterday afternoon by Miss Critcher and Miss Elsie Snowden, while not so largely attended on account of the gloomy weather, was one of the most enjoyable of the season.

Mrs. Wm. Pinkney Holmes, of Baltimore, is the guest of her mother, Mrs. M. L. Civalier, on north Washington street.

Mr. Howen Shull, of Roanoke, nephew of Mr. Strother Shull, of this city, has gone to Alexandria, where he has entered the employ of the railroad. — [Winchester News.]

The invitations issued by Mrs. Eleanor S. Washington Howard for the marriage of her daughter, Miss Sarah Smith Howard, to Mr. Hugh Milton Caldwell on October 21 at Christ Church, this city, have been recalled, owing to a recent death in the family of Mr. Caldwell. The ceremony will be performed in the presence of the immediate family only.

Mr. Frank Stonnell, of Prince William county, is confined to his home by sickness.

Want Night Flagman.

People living in lower Fairfax county complain of the fact that no flagman is stationed in the night time at the Telegraph road where it is crossed by the tracks of the Southern and Washington-Southern Railways. There are now five tracks at that point, which is within the yard limits of these roads, and trains are moving thereabouts at all hours of the day and night, some running at a high rate of speed. People who bring produce to this city have to cross these tracks at this time of the year before the stars are out of the sky, and they do so with no little apprehension.

Police Court.

[Mayor G. L. Simpson presiding.] The following cases were disposed of this morning:

John Bell, colored, arrested by Officer Young charged with abusive language, forfeited his collateral by failure to appear.

Adolphus Seaton, colored, arrested by Officer Ticer for abusive language toward Robert Hopkins, colored, was fined $5.

Martin Long, arrested by Officer Smith for vagrancy, was dismissed with the understanding that he would leave the city forthwith.

One stranger applied at the station house last night for accommodation.

Deferred Enterprises.

The plan to build into Washington, which the Norfolk and Western Railroad has contemplated for some time, is not to be acted upon as soon as was expected. The stockholders of the system met at Norfolk on Thursday, and took no action on the proposal. It was stated a few weeks since that a new steamer line was to be operated between Norfolk, this city and Washington, and that the plans had so far proceeded that a steamer had been purchased and was to be put on the route on October first, but the date has passed and now nothing is heard of the new line.

Death of a Former Alexandrian.

John Hurst Lindsey, a former resident of this city, who had lived in Washington in recent years, died in Providence Hospital in that city Thursday morning last. The deceased served in the Confederate service during the civil war, at first in the artillery branch and later in the navy. The funeral will take place from St. Mary's Church in this city at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon. A number of ex-Confederate and others will attend the funeral. The deceased was 67 years old and a machinist by trade.

Tree Had Three Crops.

It was stated a few days ago that Mr. Walter Nails and Mr. Frank Hume had pear trees which had bloomed twice this year. Mr. William T. Emerson, of this city, says he has one which has borne fruit three times this year.

Temperance Lecture Tonight.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather, Professor Tracy has been prevented from delivering his illustrated temperance lectures in the tent at the northwest corner of Queen and Columbus streets. He has, however, secured the Opera House and will give his first free lecture there tonight. He will also lecture at the same place tomorrow and Monday nights.

Property Sale.

Mr. S. H. Lunt sold at auction today for Mr. M. B. Harlow, trustee, a dwelling house and lot No. 310 north Columbus street to Mr. J. D. Normoyle for $2,000; also an unimproved lot south of the above building to Mr. J. D. Normoyle for $400. An intervening house, No. 308, was not offered at auction it having been sold privately.

Deaths.

Albert Muehlhauser, the twelve-year-old son of the late Paul Muehlhauser, of this city, died at his home in Cleveland, Ohio, yesterday. His remains will be brought to this city for interment.

The infant child of Mr. Thomas Territt, of Bailey's Cross Roads, Fairfax county, died last night.

Opera House.

Despite the stormy weather last night, a good sized house witnessed the presentation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at the Opera House. The show, as are a majority of its kind, was very poorly produced, and the theatre-going people were poorly repaid for the trip on such a night. The next attraction, "A Boy Wanted," promises to be good in every respect.

The Market.

The market this morning was tolerably well supplied, notwithstanding the unfavorable weather. There was but a slight falling off in the attendance of country people and buyers. Prices had undergone no material changes from those of last Saturday.

Corporation Court.

[Judge L. C. Barley presiding.] R. L. Hunter vs. R. H. Hunter, and Larkin vs. Larkin; causes referred to E. B. Taylor, special commissioner, for report in place to J. T. Callahan, deceased.

LOCAL BRIEVITIES.

The steamer River Queen arrived at Woodall's shipyard in Baltimore yesterday from Washington for repairs.

The schooner Juliet Hopkins from Severn river loaded with sand for the Belle-Pre Bottle Works has arrived at A. A. Smoot & Co's, wharf.

A club house belonging to Ray Atkinson, on Patrick street, between Cameron and Queen, was broken open last night and several pistols were stolen.

By the explosion of a boiler in a smelting works at Rapid City, S. D., a few days since, Mr. Ellis Halley was killed. He was a grand son of Alexander McKerechar formerly of St. Asaph but late of Washington.

It is understood that further experiments with the Langley flying machine will be abandoned until next spring, and that the big houseboat and the attendant tugs and launches will return to Washington within the next few days.

The work of rebuilding the custom house and postoffice in this city is now well under way. The brick work is now about the second story.

The condition of Thomas Blenheim, colored, who cut his throat Thursday while in jail, had undergone no material change this morning.

John Ryan, now at the Alexandria Hospital suffering from a pistol shot wound, was thought to be better today.

At the services at the Railroad Mission tomorrow Mr. Richard Morgan will be the cornetist and Mr. Clarkson soloist.

The wind of last night did considerable damage to the telegraph and telephone wires in this city and vicinity.

A number of members of the Honorable Artillery of London passed through this city today on their way to and from Mt. Vernon.

The County Court has entered several orders distributing funds to the parties entitled in the Old Dominion Railway cases.

THE STATE POLL TAX.—Attorney-General Anderson yesterday gave to Secretary of the Commonwealth Eggleston an opinion with reference to lists required to be furnished by county and city treasurers after January 1, 1904, of persons who have paid State poll taxes. He decides that in order to vote next year, persons must pay their State poll tax for this year and have that fact certified by the county or city treasurer.

In 1905 the list must show that the tax has been paid for two years and in 1906 that it has been paid for three years. The first elections in which the poll tax prerequisite will apply under the new constitution will be that for city officers in June next.

TO HELP SOUTHERN SCHOOLS.—Trustees of the Peabody fund meeting, held in New York on Thursday, decided to make a change in the expenditure of money on the Peabody scholarships to the Peabody Institute at Nashville. Money heretofore spent in that way will be used in future in helping country schools in the South. It was also decided not to spend money on teachers' institutes, but on summer schools. Chief Justice Fuller presided over the meeting. J. P. Morgan and other notables were present. Daniel C. Gillman read a tribute to the late Dr. L. M. Curry. The Peabody fund is now over $2,000,000 and brings in $80,000 a year.

Only a Very Few Published.

It is not possible for the proprietors to publish more than a few of the numerous letters received in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy and telling of its remarkable cures. They come from people in every walk in life and from every state in the Union. The following from Mr. T. W. Greathouse, of Prattsburg, Ga., speaks for itself: "I would have been dead now but for the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It cured me of chronic diarrhoea after several years of suffering. I can never say too much in praise of that remedy." For sale by Richard Gibson.

must win upon their merits. The International Dictionary has won a greater distinction upon its merits and is in more general use than any other work of its kind in the English language.

A. H. Sayce, LL.D., D.D., of Oxford University, England, has recently said of it: "It is indeed a marvelous work; it is difficult to conceive of a dictionary more exhaustive and complete. Everything is in it—not only what we might expect to find in such a work, but also what few of us would ever have thought of looking for."
A supplement to the new edition has brought it fully up to date. I have been looking through the latter with a feeling of astonishment at its completeness, and the amount of labor that has been put into it.
